The Victory Unlimited…

Declaration of Independence

When in the course of human experience, it becomes a necessity for a person to break free from the mental, physical, emotional, spiritual, and financial bonds that connects them with another person, other people, or certain situations--------and assume a separate, equal, or HIGHER rank that has been provided to them by nature and/or entitled to them by God.

Out of respect for others and out of respect for themselves, on occasion, a formal Declaration of Separation such as THIS one-----is necessary.

WE hold these truths to be self-evident: That all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their creator with certain unalienable rights: that among those are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness; that to secure these rights, it becomes necessary to abandon, alter, or abolish any association with any person or peoples, any thought processes, or any situations that have proven to be negative, destructive, or otherwise detrimental their well-being.

I, _____ formally declare MY independence from all things previously stated---------TODAY!
